nr.1

BETROUWBAAR, ERVAREN, BEVLOGEN

BOOKS - BOOKS - BOOKS AND BOOKS!

Let's kick off this rainy 2020 by show casing some nice freshly published books!

After the successful issue of the first book Wooden Houses of Curaçao, Number two is born, by the hand of Monique Rosalina-van de Kuilen.
A wonderful and colorful portrait of Curaçaos wooden houses and some of it's residents.
With over 600 photo's a very nice item for the coffee table.

Available in bookstores now...

Eddy Wegman (17 February 1918 - 12 May 1998) was born in Doetinchem, in the Netherlands. He left for Curaçao in September 1945, where he had been offered a job at Shell. In Curaçao he devoted the little free time he had largely to his new passion: photography.

As a photographer he gained the trust of the local population in a special way. This is evident in the powerful portrait photographs he took during his stay in Curaçao (1945-1963). During his life Wegman received numerous awards for his work.

Take a look at postwar Curaçao through the lens of this talented amateur photographer.

September 6, 2017, was the day of the most destructive national disaster and the worst nightmare Sint Maarten had ever seen. On that day Hurricane Irma slammed her tail and left the island in total chaos and shambles.

This book 'Storm' is about the dramatic experiences of two young boys, David and Tony, during and after the arrival of the monster hurricane called Irma.

Storm is dedicated to all those who risk their lives to help others in need, with special appreciation for the work of all emergency services: SKS: the Royal Dutch Marechaussee: Police, Justice and Fire departments; Sint Maarten Medical Center; Red Cross; White -Yellow Cross and many others.

This book will be distributed among e.g. elementary schools throughout St. Maarten and stimulates children to develop their awareness about friendship and climate change.

PBCCG is happy to see, so many diverse initiatives that help keep our history and culture alive!

Congrats and keep up this beautiful work! Proud to be able to support you...
